Frankfort School Plans To Utilize Airborne TV

At the last meeting the Frankfort school board was voted to utilize the classes presented by the midwest program for airborne TV instruction (MPATI). The program will be initiated in the school at the beginning of the second semester, about Jan. 28. Frankfort is a charter member of MPATI, and Mr. LeRoy Wright, principal, is the representative from the school. He is a member of the northern Illinois committee concerned with scheduling and curriculum. Mrs. Isabella Gaines, Mrs. Dorothy Woodman, Mrs. Virginia Osmus and Mrs. Margaret Robertson will attend a class in December on science in the primary grades. This preliminary instruction for teachers is designed to help them utilize the TV classes to best advantage. In addition, there is a special preparation manual for each class offered by MPATI to be used by the classroom teacher.

Since MPATI operates on UHF, certain special equipment will be needed to receive the classes. The total cost of all equipment, including the TV set, and installation will be about $500.

Certain interesting results have been noted in schools which have been using TV classes. In these schools the library is used more extensively, the teachers are using more modern methods in all classes, including those not aided by TV instruction, and multiple tests are more common in these schools. It seems that the TV classes act as a stimulant to the students and have been a great help to the teachers in enriching their present program, it was said.

The board selected MPATI instead of ETV, which some may have seen on channel 11, because MPATI gives its member schools a voice in selection and scheduling of programs, which ETV does not.

The board also made a firm policy that all school insurance business is to be divided equally among all local full-time insurance representatives. Those selling insurance on a part-time or side-line basis will not be considered because there are so many it would be confusing, it was explained.

The considerable increase in the price of garbage pickup service this year, was discussed. The board decided to compare costs of incinerators with the cost of present service, and will purchase its own incinerator if this seems more economical.

Mr. Wright noted that Mrs. Van Rheaden attended a reading clinic recently and commended the Frankfort faculty in general for its professional attitude. The teachers are frequently attending special workshop and clinics to keep well informed on new developments in education.

Thomas Kusinis appeared before the board to inquire about school sponsored transportation. The board sympathized with the problem but pointed out that such a small school cannot afford to subsidize transportation, and is not required to do so.

Crackel Rules In Schmuhl School Discipline Case

As indicated in last week's story of the recent disciplinary action taken by the principal of Schmuhl school against three youngsters who defaced school property, he was advised by County School Supt. Verne E. Crackel to use some other means in the future.

The principal had two of the boys tied to the post supporting the basketball net and backboard on the playground. The three boys had showered the backboard with mud. The third boy, whose identity was not established at the time the other two were tied up, was required to wash the mud off the backboard.

Supt. Crackel criticized the tying up of the boys.

The affair came to his attention on complaint of the parents of one of the boys involved. The parents of the other two did not enter into the controversy other than to express an opinion that they thought the affair was being over emphasized and publicized.

Can Apply Now For Rural Mail Carrier Post

Dec. 18 is the deadline for applications for the job of rural carrier for the Mokena post office.

Applicants must take a written examination for the post. To be eligible to apply one must have resided within the delivery of the post office for one year immediately preceding the closing date of the examination. In addition, they must be 18 years old on the closing date for acceptance of applications (Dec. 18).

There is no maximum age limit, except that persons who are over 70 may be considered only for temporary renewable appointments of one year.

Complete information about the examination and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the Mokena post office. Application forms must be filed with U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C., and must be received or postmarked not later than Dec. 18.

Most of the parents, a check indicated, are satisfied that the principal hired this year, Clarence Day, a retired Chicago grade school teacher, was a good choice and that he is improving the school and that discipline is a necessity. "Can't have the kids run the school," one parent declared. Mr. Crackel said he thought the problem could have been handled by the board, the principal and the people concerned if all parties had been a little more cooperative and understanding. He also admonished the directors to work together. "I would not condemn Mr. Day for his efforts to maintain a good, well discipline school," Supt. Crackel said. "I believe that good discipline is necessary."

"It seems to me," Crackel added, "that something must be done to get your people -- all of them -- to work and think together on the school problems of your district."

Methodists Consecrate New Church At Orland

More than 400 persons turned out for the ceremonies that marked the consecration of the new Orland Park Methodist church at 144th street and West avenue last Sunday afternoon. A like number attended the morning worship services in the new sanctuary.

Bishop Charles Brashares, of Chicago, presided at the consecration rites conducted at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Rev. Frank Countryman, district superintendent, gave the pastoral prayer and the sermon was delivered by the bishop. The church was presented to the bishop for consecration W. G. Davidson, chairman of the building committee. Also taking part in the ceremony were Stewart Loebe, lay reader for the Orland Park congregation, and Paul Zeman, lay reader of the southern district of the Rock River Conference; the Rev. Leon Leatherman, pastor of the Orland church, and the Rev. Robert Plastow, former pastor. The honored guests were introduced by Gene Bates, chairman of the church board. More than 30 pastors, most of them Methodists, from neighboring communities, also attended the rites.

The Rev. Mr. Plastow made a special trip for the occasion, coming from his new pastorate at Redondo Beach, Calif. He was pastor of the Orland Park church when plans for the new sanctuary were formulated and he was in charge when work was begun on the actual construction in May, 1961. He left Orland Park for California in July of last year.

With the building of a new church the former sanctuary became a part of the religious education set-up. Extensive remodeling was done for this purpose.

The new edifice, of modern design, had cost approximately $145,000, including the price of furnishings. It has a seating capacity of more than 300 but this is still considerably less than the number of persons in the congregation. As a result two services are held each Sunday morning.

At the services last Sunday morning the Rev. Mr. Plastow was the preacher and the Rev. Paul Sanders of the Community Center Foundation at Palos Park gave the pastoral prayer.

Following the consecration there was a reception at the church attended by the public and members of the congregation. The affair was arranged by the members of the Woman's Society for Christian Service.

The Orland Park Methodist church was organized in 1896 and the church--just now replaced--was built two years later.

The new sanctuary was put into use about three months ago.

Supervisors Rebuff Mokena Board In Area Zoning Case

Disregarding objections filed by adjacent property owners and the village of Mokena the Will county board of supervisors has given official sanction to the rezoning of 80 acres along U. S. 45 from farmland to residential.

Because adjoining property owners filed objections the board had to have three-fourths of its 42 members vote in favor of the change. Advocates of the change rallied just enough votes to grant approval--32. The final vote was 32 to 3 in favor of the re-zoning. Supervisor George Tate, of Frankfort, recommended approval of the appeals board action. The supervisors met Monday.

The property is on the west side of U. S. 45 in the vicinity of the Arbory Hills sewage disposal plant. Petitioners for the change were the Mutual National Bank of Chicago as trustee and Futuristic Homes, Inc., developers of Arbory Hills.

The land in question was purchased from the late B. F. Nelson and it was said the transaction will be completed thru his estate. The petitioners were represented by Attorney Albert H. Krusemark. The village of Mokena and the objecting property owners were represented by Attorney Ronald Galowich. Galowich is attorney for the village of Mokena and in the action before the board he also represented Mrs. Lawrence Kohl, Harold Geuther, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Langland, who own adjoining property.

The village of Mokena based its objections on the grounds that the rezoning is contrary to the recommendations set forth in the master plan for the area.

The zoning board and the county board apparently gave no consideration to the fact that a plan has been adopted to guide the growth of the area, it was pointed out.

It is the contention of village planners that zoning this tract for residential purposes will preclude the use of land by industry because industry will not put itself in the position of being harassed by residential property owners.

The petitioners explained that the land is needed for more housing. It is across the highway to the west of the developed section of Arbory Hills. Ralph Yunker, village engineer for Mokena, also appeared at the county board meeting, and spoke in support of the village's master plan.

Mokena Youth Breaks Arm In Try To Vault Creek

Allan Wallschlag, 14, of Mokena, was hospitalized last week-end as a result of a fall that resulted in the fracture of the bone arm bone between the elbow and the shoulder.

He suffered considerable shock and had to be carried from the woods where he was injured to a waiting ambulance. Allan was taken to the Hedges clinic at Frankfort for examination and then sent on to Silver Cross hospital where the bone was set and a cast applied.

The lad and several companions had gone on a hike thru the woods along Hickory creek, west of Mokena. They were about a mile west of Wolf road. The creek is narrow at that point and Allan elected to jump over it, with the aid of a long stick which used as if it were a vaulting pole.

In making the jump he slipped and landed on his left elbow. The force was such that the bone above the elbow was fractured. He also suffered a back injury, it was reported. Allan was unable to regain his feet and his companions said that there was enough land earmarked for industrial purposes east of Mokena and the tract along U. S. 45 was not needed.

It is the hope of the village and the village planning commission and Chamber of Commerce to attract light industry to the area. There has to be a mixture of industry, commercial and residential property if an area is to avoid becoming a dormitory settlement, planners declare.

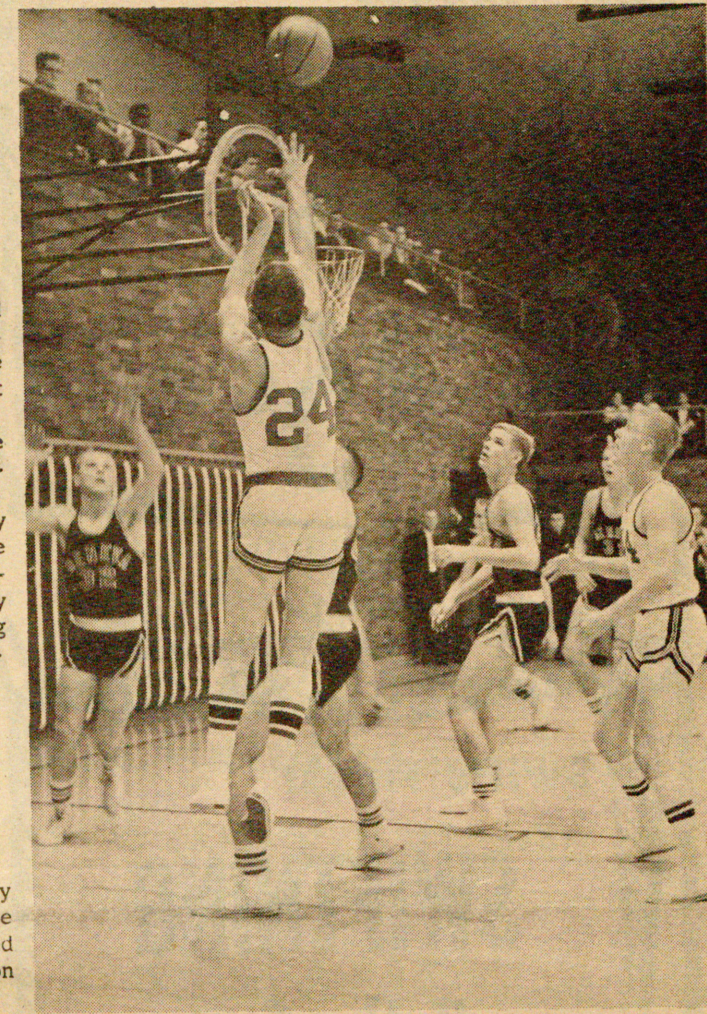

They stopped at the nearest house that had a telephone and called Mokena's police chief, Vernon Bormet.

Bormet found the youth unable to walk and notified the fire department. Fire Chief Robert Rust brought a stretcher to the scene and the boy was carried back to the road where Wayne Ryder was waiting with a station wagon and took the boy to the clinic. There x-ray examination revealed the break between elbow and shoulder.

Assisting Bormet in bringing Allan in from the woods were Kenneth Pearson, Arthur Omeland, Will Tuttle, Marion Owens and George Dolle Jr.

Argue Jurisdiction Of J.P.'s In Tax Matters

(CNS) Oral arguments were scheduled in the Illinois supreme court, yesterday, Nov. 28, on an appeal brought by Cook county to determine the legality of justices of the peace collecting delinquent personal property taxes.

The appellate court of the second district ruled last winter that tax collection suits can be filed only in county courts. That was a will county case. Now Cook county has asked the supreme court for an order compelling Justice of the Peace Leland H. Rayson of Tinley Park to hear such cases.

Rayson said that even with the passage of the blue ballot which does away with the J. P. courts the case is still important. "Thousands of dollars have been collected thru these J.P. courts and would have to be refunded if the court holds that such methods of collection are illegal," Rayson asserted.

THE ATHLETIC TEAM ROOM was designed as a dressing room for teams. This year four classes of health and driver education are scheduled per day in this room. Special portable furniture was moved to the area as well as temporary blackboard and bulletin boards.

John Fraser, 72, of 215 Illinois highway, New Lenox, died at his home on Wednesday, Nov. 21, following a long illness.

He was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, and served in the British navy prior to coming to the United States in 1921. He settled in Chicago and lived there until 1950 when he moved to New Lenox. Prior to retirement Mr. Fraser was an assembler at the Diamond T. Truck Co., Chicago.

Surviving are two sons, John Jr., of Los Angeles, and Alexander, of New Lenox; one daughter, Margaret, Mrs. George Wheeler, also of New Lenox; one sister, Mrs. Annie Merson, Chicago and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held from the Baskerville chapel, Lincoln highway and Roberts road, New Lenox, last Saturday, Nov. 24, with the Rev. Ian Brown, pastor of the Marley Community Baptist church officiating. Interment was in Irving Park Blvd. cemetery, Chicago.

Elmwood Park Residents Most Stable Suburbanites

(CNS) How long does a suburbanite stay put?

Only three South Suburbs, Blue Island, Homewood, and Lansing approached the record of the most "stable" suburb, Elmwood Park, where 66% of the population are still living in the same house in 1960 as in 1955, the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission reports.

Blue Island was second in the county with 61 per cent living in the same house during this five year period; Homewood fourth with 60 per cent; and Lansing, fifth with 59.

Other South suburbs with lesser percentages in this category were: Evergreen Park, 57; Riverdale, 56; Joliet and Calumet City, 53 each.

Also Harvey with 48 per cent;

Oak Lawn, 41; Chicago Heights, 39; Dolton, 33; South Holland, 32; Park Forest, 28; Markham, 24.

As could be expected these three top suburbs did not fare as well in the increase in housing units in 1950 compared with 1960.

During this decade Blue Island added only 1,222 housing units; Homewood, 2,275; and Lansing, 2,446.

Joliet with 5,458 and Park Forest with 5,136 topped South suburbs in the increase of housing units from 1950 to 1960.

Other South suburbs with their growth were: Evergreen Park, 3,642; Dolton, 3,411; Harvey, 3,268; Chicago Heights, 2,902; Calumet City, 2,838; Markham, 2,158; Riverdale, 1,931; South Holland, 1,923.

Other profiles of South suburbs based on "vital statistics" issued by the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission will be featured in coming weeks.

TB Seal Sale Campaign Gets Off To Good Start

Figures released by John H. French, Christmas Seal campaign chairman, show a total of $12,196.56 received on Nov. 23 by the Will County Tuberculosis Association in this year's campaign. Contributions to the same date last year totaled $11,347.11.

Funds raised in the annual Christmas Seal campaign are used for local, state and national programs of health education, case-finding and research in tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

"With more than ten thousand persons a year still dying from tuberculosis in the United States, we cannot relax our efforts to control the disease," said Mr. French. "In spite of new drugs that can arrest the disease, the problem is largely one of finding new cases and checking up on old ones to be sure the germ is not again active," he continued. "In order to make this program effective, it is necessary to keep everyone aware of the problem. You can help by sending in your contribution for Christmas Seals. The goal of the campaign this year in Will County is $40,000.00."

Representative in the Frankfort area is Ted Massey and in the New Lenox area, John Oster.

Yields Keep Growing In "100-Bushel Corn Club"

Three years ago a group of Washington township farmers who walk in "Seven league boots" organized the "100 Bushel Corn Club." This month the group held its third annual get-together for dinner and awarding of trophies. A chicken dinner was served to the eighteen members and their wives, in Manteno.

Harvey Wehrmann was awarded the first place trophy with 147.42 average acre yield of corn on his plot. William Herlitz placed second with 142.27 average acre yield with Lenard Brands, Beecher, in third with 138.91.

Interestingly, the top yield in 1960 was 132 bu. per acre; in 1961 the top man in this group's yield was 135 bu. per acre and this year Mr. Wehrmann had 147.42.

A. A. Wicklein, Will county farm adviser was guest speaker. He pointed out some of the challenges and the problems that present themselves to the businesses of today as well as to the businessman farmer. "Where will agriculture in Will county be in the 1970?" he asked.

Judicious management in the areas of land usage, capital and labor will be the deciding factors in how much money is to be made in farming in the next decade. Family farms with one or two-man additional labor will prove the most popular and the most efficient units to operate in the coming years, he said.

Gary Cooper, agriculture teacher from Beecher high school was a guest.

Virgil Selk, Beecher, last year's winner, presided at the meeting, awarded the trophies and introduced the speaker.

Death Doesn't Take These Holidays

One down and two to go - holidays that is, - in which too many lives are lost in highway tragedies.

Thanksgiving is past. Usually Thanksgiving is a less violent holiday period than any others, according to statistics of the Illinois highway department.

As a matter of fact, a department spokesman says, it was found that in 1961 more accidents usually occurred on an ordinary week-end than on one that fell within a holiday period. There is less commercial traffic on holidays, it was pointed out, and then too more publicity is given traffic in holiday periods and it is believed the warnings have some effect.

It cannot be said, however, that the Christmas week-end last year had fewer fatalities than ordinary week-ends. It had more.

In comparing traffic figure the experts were working with those from rural area on the theory that traffic conditions in the cities are likely to be the same or maybe less in holiday periods.

In 1961 the average number of traffic accidents per weekday in December came to 128. On week-ends, not including Christmas the average for Saturday and Sunday was 187 each. On the Saturday and Sunday of the Christmas week-end there were an average of 191 accidents.

When it came to fatalities in the rural areas the average was 2.4 per December week-day. The average for Saturdays and Sundays was 5.5.

A little table tells the story of the Christmas week-end.

Day	Av. Fat.	Deaths
Fri.	2.4	9
Sat.	5.5	8
Sun.	5.5	2
Mon.	2.4	5

This shows that the beginning of the Christmas holiday is the most hazardous. People are in a rush to get errands done or reach a destination.

The office party has been responsible for many traffic accidents, and deaths too, at Christmas time also few if any references are made to the fact in the reports. It seems to go against the grain to mark down that good old Jim got loaded and refused to let anyone else drive his car or call a cab. Friends hesitated at knocking Jim out and taking his keys by force. He would have been pretty mad the next day but he would have been around. As it was old Jim was pretty dead. No one likes to add to the woes of Jim's family by shrieking publicly that Jim was drunk as a coot and it was a good thing that he just killed himself and not someone else.

Or take the case of that pretty girl - Mary So-and-So - one of the stenographers. She will live, they say at the hospital, but her face will be horribly disfigured and she will have a limp the rest of her life. Mary's folks feel bad enough as it is so no one wants to headline the fact that Mary got higher than a kite at the office party and elected to join three others and go someplace else where they could have more fun. The man driving wasn't drunk, but he had had enough so that his judgment wasn't as good as it should have been, and they crashed.

New Year's Eve and New Year's Day are safer than Christmas, statistics show. Some believe this because of the publicity given the traffic deaths at Christmas and then too a lot of people start out to greet the New Year with the intention of waging quite a battle with the bottle. So they make provisions for such a contingency.

Whereas, the Christmas drinker has no intention of getting loaded. He is just going to have a little drink to celebrate the holiday season and then go home.

Falling asleep at the wheel also takes a toll. So anyone can see that it is better to nip and nap at home.

Death travels fast enough on his appointed rounds - why rush to meet him?

Keep your head clear and a light foot on the gas pedal.

Editorials

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

The coming sessions of congress and the Illinois general assembly are quite likely to be subjected to pressure by the one-or-two-day hunters.

We say this because reports from the outdoor editors and reporters show there is great need for some sort of legislation to protect those persons who go out into the open spaces to kill pheasants, rabbits and assorted livestock, not to mention fellow hunters.

It seems that the hunters this year are being subjected to discriminatory and unfair practices by the species of game found in these parts.

If little Virginia was willing to accept the New York Sun as to an authority on the Santa Claus question we don't see why we can't take the word of Tom McNally of the Trib as to the behavior of game this fall.

According to Mr. McNally and his sources there are a lot of pheasants in these parts, a lot of pheasants, but the hunters have not been bagging them.

Now Mr. McNally doesn't say anything about marksmanship. He doesn't have to. Everyone knows tradition has it that every red blooded America boy is a natural born expert marksman.

And there is no reason why such skill is not retained in later years. To accuse an American male of being a poor shot is stopping just short of proscripting him for treason, or accusing him of being against public schools, or of belittling motherhood.

If there are few pheasants and a hunter returns empty handed one can readily see that the hunter or his marksmanship is not at fault. And if there are a lot of pheasants but the hunter still returns empty handed he is still not at fault. The pheasant is to blame and we cite no less an authority for this than Mr. McNally and other writers of the great outdoors, as some of them call it.

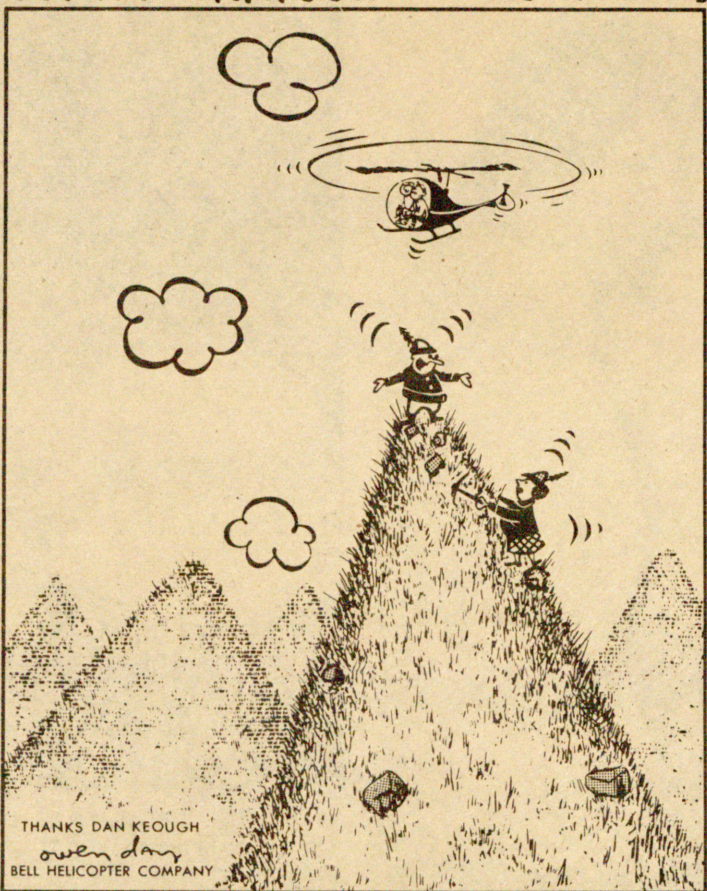

The pheasants have been quite wild this year, Mr. McNally said, and there are some recently imported partridges on the Illinois scene who also have been flushing wildly. Anyone will agree that this is quite unfair of the birds. How is one to hit a bird when the danged thing comes up too fast or too far away or loops back over one's head?

Sometimes a hunter may get a glimpse of one running, but shucks, they won't stand still long enough for one to pot them?

When the birds get tired of running they will hide themselves to the end of a field, out of range, and they rise gracefully into flight.

Sometime the birds are able to maneuver the hunters into a position so that if a pheasant rises for a fraction of a second, and then plunges down into cover, one of the men will shoot another. They the birds can relax and rest until the next

COPTER CARTOON by owen day

And if that is the way the birds are going to play it then the state legislature and congress should certainly pass laws restraining pheasants, partridges and quail from flushing too late or too soon, and requiring them to fly straight out in front of the hunter and at moderate speed.

This business of a bird springing up from under one's feet and then going off to one side on an erratic course must be stopped, and if the birds refuse to do this then there should be a law.

There should also be a law against pheasants leading hunters a merry chase up and down corn rows or thru grass. They'll do it for hours on end, sometimes even crossing a road into another field if they feel the need of exercise. Then they reverse their field, as the footballers say, and come back, always keeping down and never flushing.

Sometimes a hunter may get a glimpse of one running, but shucks, they won't stand still long enough for one to pot them?

When the birds get tired of running they will hide themselves to the end of a field, out of range, and they rise gracefully into flight.

Sometime the birds are able to maneuver the hunters into a position so that if a pheasant rises for a fraction of a second, and then plunges down into cover, one of the men will shoot another. They the birds can relax and rest until the next

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

Better grade stocks have been steadily increasing in market value for the past four weeks without at least a short period of sell-off due to profit taking. The 30 selected industrials which make up the Dow Jones industrial average - used as a measure of better grade stocks activity - was about 20 per cent above the 535.76 which was hit on June 26, 1962.

It is becoming quite difficult to find an investment advisory service which is not optimistic on the business picture.

Quite a number of better known investment services are predicting higher levels of activity for business and the stock market which ordinarily, except for reactions to unusual current situations, reflects the anticipated business activity of the next six to nine months rather than current business conditions.

It is to be expected that an advancing stock market seeks the higher levels at an irregular pace.

A number of services are now confirming the predictions of early this year, as to a substantial increase rather than decrease in the business picture. This column was not impressed with the economic logic predicting a recession and we preferred the interpretation of Fortune magazine column - Business Roundup - which has had top standing for many years.

Defenders of predictions for a recession, can point to the upward push given the economy by the demands of the Cuban crisis which proved to all and sundry, that we live in a world where the ability to defend is the price of freedom.

Nehru is giving us an object lesson of the results of living in an Ivory Tower also even he tarnished his own shield by attacking and over-whelming tiny Goa. Nehru is not likely to be a leader among the neutralist nations for some time in the future. History's realist lessons have been heavy for him and his admirers.

Our own budget is heavily weighed with defense and defense influenced items. A day or two ago the government announced a multibillion dollar order for a new super plane. The placing of the prime contract for these planes with Convair division of General Dynamics and Grumman Aircraft, was not unexpected.

Often investors do not realize that prime contractors for military aircraft are able to retain only about 30 per cent (or less) of the total contract amount for their own fabrication, the balance of the contract going to sub-contractors. Modern military planes are heavily laden with electronic equipment which would include highly specialized scientific items. The airplane frame items make up in the neighborhood, of a quarter of the total cost.

This is not meant to imply the impact this order will have on both Convair of General Dynamics and Grumman Aircraft activity as both of these organizations have developed considerable non-airframe activities. However, the impact on many other specialty manufacturers will be heavy. The tremendous speed of the aircraft will no doubt place emphasis on new facets of scientific equipment.

It would seem likely that even the pessimists will soon be anticipating rising markets.

Analysts point out that the rise to this point has been largely in the best grade stocks and the medium grade must have an upward trend or the advanced market may be in for a decline.

Hints For Homeowners

BY JAMES FIZZELL
ASSOC. FARM ADVISER

Are your plants ready for the winter? According to a recent release from the Nassau County, New York Extension Service, winter injury is due to dehydration, low temperatures, and mechanical damage. Broadleaf evergreens are usually damaged most by exposure to the sun and wind in late winter. The sunlight falling directly upon the leaves may raise the temperature to a point where water is lost more rapidly than it can be replaced by the roots.

Shading or screening the plants from the sun and the prevailing wind will limit the amount of scorching or burning of the foliage. This type of protection is particularly important on evergreens that are newly planted or those that are in very exposed locations. Spraying with antidesiccants or wilt preventatives may help to protect against dehydration. They often have to be renewed several times each winter in order to be effective. Lath and burlap are preferable to polyethylene covers. Foliage is often injured when it comes in contact with polyethylene used to cover the sides of an open top frame. Polyethylene, etc., is most useful as a screen or windbreak to moderate local temperatures and exposure to drying winds.

Mulching and watering are beneficial to any evergreen plantings regardless of their exposure. Water thoroughly in November and December before the ground freezes. Soil moisture can be conserved by adding a mulch to the evergreens when the leaves of deciduous trees have fallen. Oak leaves or pine needles make an excellent mulch. Maple and beech leaves are not desirable for mulching purposes because they form a soggy mat. Peat moss, wood chips, and salt hay can also be used as protective mulches.

If some of your plants still suffer from the winter after you do a good job of protecting them, move them to a more protected location in the spring or replace them by harder species.

Perennials should be mulched after the ground has frozen to a depth of 2-3 inches. This prevents the alternate freezing and thawing that causes heaving and root damage.

Ground cover plants like pachysandra, ivy or vinca once they are established, form a dense carpet that becomes a living mulch. These plants have a lot of leaf area and will require water in the late fall like any other evergreen.

Don't overlook mechanical injury as a cause of plant loss and damage. Lack of support for vines and newly planted trees can result in broken branches and trunks and the uprooting of trees whose roots haven't become established. The weight of ice and snow loads may break branches or bend them out of shape. Upright yews, and similar plants may be spread open by this loading. Because of this spreading they may permanently lose their desirable compact appearance. These plants can be protected by tying the branches together with twine. It isn't necessary to tie them too tightly. It is always a good idea to very carefully sweep the snow off evergreens before it gets wet, heavy and sticky.

Lawns, too, should receive some attention. Don't let the grass grow long before going into the winter. Keep mowing it when necessary until it stops growing. Lawns that have had snow mold in previous years can be protected by spraying in November and once or twice during the winter and in April with an appropriate fungicide. Snow mold is the disease that causes areas of the lawns, to look dirty white, gray or pinkish in early spring. Avoid excessive traffic on the lawn

TINLEY PARK - 532-4369

At the last meeting of the Tinley Hustlers 4-H club, former leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Siemsen were honored by presentation of a gift, a plaque, and a potted plant, by the Tinley Hustlers 4-H club in appreciation of the 12 years which they have spent as leaders of this club.

At the same meeting, the club was re-organized under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bussian.

The vegetable committee of the County Agricultural Extension Council met recently to make plans for the annual vegetable Growers schools. The committee set the date of Jan. 16 for the school to be held in southern Cook county at the Thornton Township hall, South Holland.

The tentative program has a well rounded variety of topics, including weed, insect and disease control; safety in using machinery; an analysis of costs and returns in vegetable production; food merchandising and education; new vegetable varieties; and safe handling in use of agricultural chemicals. A new feature of the program this year will be a panel to answer questions directed at it from the audience. This presentation is entitled "What's Your Problem?"

Vegetable growers from this area who served on the committee were: C. W. Paarlberg, Harry J. Paarlberg, both of South Holland; John DeJong, Lansing; Charles Benck, Manhattan.

The Cook County vegetable school follows by one day the annual meeting of the Illinois State Vegetable Growers Association to be held in Joliet, at the hotel Louis Joliet on Jan. 15. These two programs should provide a lot of information to vegetable growers.

mation to vegetable growers, not only production ideas, but marketing ideas as well as tips on management and some ideas for group action to solve problems which are universal among vegetable growers.

At the invitation of C. W. Paarlberg, South Holland, I presented a program entitled "Food in Our Society" to the South Holland Lions club.

This program is designed to acquaint people with the nature and scope of agriculture in the economy in these United States. The same presentation is available to other service clubs or organized groups who wish to hear a discussion of this matter. A program of this type would be particularly appropriate during November, the month in which National Farm-City Week is held.

Farming is a business. Management is important in any business. To assist farmers with the management aspects of their farm business, a series of six Farm and Family Business Management schools is being conducted in southern Cook county. The first of these schools was held Wednesday, Nov. 14 and will be followed with five additional two-hour sessions, stressing the management factors and decisions in the farm business.

With winter almost upon us, it is refreshing to talk about summer camping. The annual meeting of our 4-H camp, Camp Shaw-Waw-Nas-See was held this week. The camp had a successful year last year and accommodated over two-thousand 4-H members from 20 counties in northeastern Illinois.

Cook county 4-H members will be camping at Shaw-Waw-Nas-See next summer, July 8 thru 21. In case the winter gets too cold for you to bear, just think about the fine time you can have at summer camp next July.

FALSE DREAMS

Dear Sir:

The only interpretations which can be given recent actions by Khrushchev and Nehru are that communism and neutralism are false dreams.

Nikita admits that his system of government is a hoax and a failure when he stated that key industries are lagging. The chemical industry has reached 56% of its goal. In metals the score is 74%. Oil and gas stands at 82%. Agricultural methods have failed to produce sufficient food.

A broad reorganizational program is underway and heads will roll again in an attempt to find scapegoats for inefficiently operated departments. He has issued orders, that capitalistic methods should be used in order to make their plans materialize. However the workers are being promised little more than hard work and more sacrifices of consumer goods which have been pledged for over 40 years.

Mr. Nehru is beginning to see the light since Communist China gave him a dose of the same medicine which he administered to Portugal when he took Goa. He is no longer a neutralist, peace-loving Marxist and he doesn't refer to Red China as the friend of India. Lately, he dresses western style instead of wearing the garb of an elephant boy. Maybe this atheist will soon join the church, huh?

We have more intellectual fools in our federal government today than ever before in the history of the United States. They are infected with the Keynesian-Fabian socialist ideology and the internationalist idea that a new EMPIRE should be built to insure peace. When will these dreamers realize that they are "moving forward" to the rear? They are breaking all records in their race with time, to convert our great country into a socialist-subordinate to the United Nations or a counterparty.

In summary, the communists are planning to copy capitalistic ideas and we, the capitalists are being steered into the "Sea of Socialism." Confusing isn't it?

Patriotically yours,

"Winter Jewels" Theme Of FHA Style Show Dec. 8

"Winter Jewels" will be the theme of the eighth annual Future Homemakers of America style show at Carl Sandburg High School Dec. 8.

A total of 258 home economics students will participate in the show, 100 of them modeling clothes they have made in class. Type of clothes to be modeled range from cotton skirts and blouses, made by freshman students, to tailored coats, made by advanced students.

In addition to the Sandburg students, women from three adult education classes will participate, Mrs. William Cote, Sandburg home economics teacher and chairman of the style show, has invited the public to see the results of the students' fall work. The show will begin at 8 p.m. in the boys gym. Members of the foods classes will serve tea afterwards.

The show is one of two sponsored by the FHA, which handles the organizational work. The second will be held in the spring.

Say Sales By CCC Will Set Prices For 1962 Corn

BY L. H. SIMERL
COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Many Illinois farmers have the best corn crop that they have ever produced. What price can they expect to get for it? Many farmers who produce corn primarily for sale will "sell" most of it to the government by taking out price support loans or purchase agreements. They can get around $1.20 a bushel for the corn that is eligible for price support.

But what price can be expected for corn that is to be sold on the open market? It will be controlled by the sales of surplus corn that is owned by the government and, perhaps, by sales of corn that is or will be sealed on farms under price support programs.

The USDA has announced its sales policy for this 1962-63 marketing year. In early October the Department said that "... Commodity Credit Corporation-owned corn representing payment-in-kind certificates earned by producers for diverting acreage under the 1962 feed grain program will now be made available for purchase as justified by market conditions, and at market prices but not below the levels which prevailed generally at harvest time in 1960 and 1961.

"These offerings, along with the new crop and carry-in stocks, will ensure ample supplies for all needs and reasonable price stability for feed users and consumers. Proceeds from the sales will carry out the intent of the feed grain law to finance the adjustment programs insofar as practical through payments in kind from CCC holdings.

Carbon Monoxide Rates As One Of Big Killers

Carbon monoxide gas has taken its place among the great accident killers of today, according to statistics furnished by the Illinois State Medical Society.

A product of imperfect combustion in stoves and furnaces, as well as a component of exhaust gas from automobiles, carbon monoxide snuffs out the lives of more than 600 Americans every year. Its most frequent victims include hunting parties in northwoods cabins, motorists who warm up their cars in closed garages and people who sit or sleep in parked cars with the motor running.

What makes carbon monoxide so dangerous?

The answer lies in its characteristics --- or rather lack of characteristics. A non-irritating gas, carbon monoxide is tasteless, colorless and practically odorless, thus allowing victims to be overcome without even being aware of its presence.

One is not completely without warning, however, for as the gas works its way into the blood stream, the body produces certain recognizable symptoms.

For instance, the victim may experience a tightness about the forehead, headache and dizziness. He'll feel tired and his eyes may blur. Then there may be nausea, vomiting and a fluttering and throbbing of the heart. Unconsciousness follows and then, death.

Death results when the inhaled carbon monoxide replaces the oxygen in the red blood cells, thus depriving the body tissues of their needed oxygen.

Should one encounter a carbon monoxide accident, move the victim into fresh air and summon a doctor immediately. Meanwhile, keep the patient

"The 1962-63 CCC corn sales program is designed to result in a seasonal movement of feed grain prices relative to the harvest-time price, similar to those of recent years, and to carry out other objectives announced in the fall of 1961."

This statement of policy is no doubt specific enough for official purposes. But it still leaves prospective prices in a sort of twilight zone.

We do not know, for example, what might be "justified by market conditions." The government will sell at "market prices," but in selling nearly one billion dollars' worth of feed grains, the government will make those market prices.

And what were prices of corn at harvest time in 1960 and 1961? In 1960 the average prices received by Illinois farmers were 97 cents a bushel in October, 82 cents in November and 92 cents in December. In 1961 the comparable prices were $1.00, 91 cents and 94 cents. And at Chicago in 1960 the average price of No. 3 yellow corn was $1.06 in October, 96 cents in November and $1.02 in December. In 1961 the Chicago prices were $1.09 in October, $1.10 in November and $1.08 in December.

Over the past five years the average Illinois farm price rose from a low of 93 cents in November to a high of $1.12 in May. At Chicago the five-year average price of No. 3 yellow corn went up from $1.09 in November to $1.22 in May.

Last year was an exception, as heavy sales by the government drove prices down from $1.10 in November to $1.07 in February. The high for the year was in May at $1.15.

warm and render artificial respiration (mouth-to-mouth).

Most people are careful not to work in a closed garage with the automobile motor running, they tend to overlook similar carbon monoxide dangers in the home, such as leaks in gas fillings, poorly vented gas heaters, clogged chimneys and improperly operated dampers.

This, however, is only part of the carbon monoxide story, for studies show this "silent killer" also contributes to many of the 180,000 annual highway accidents caused by drivers who black out or fall asleep at the wheel (conditions brought about by slow absorption of the gas in closed cars).

It was formerly assumed that an open window assured protection from this danger. But recent tests show that sometimes an open window creates a draft which actually helps exhaust fumes seep up through the floorboards. To counteract this, engineers advise motorists to keep their front vents open also.

This sends a flow of fresh air thru the car and out the window. However, when following close to another car in bumper-to-bumper traffic, or passing through a tunnel behind other vehicles, motorists are urged to close their vents.

"I'll have one more, please. No more for her."

Bingo Club To Meet In Mrs. Richard Heim's Home

MRS. EDWARD HOVI Mokena 5740
The Bingo Club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Heim of 9431 West Hickory Street, on Thursday evening, Dec. 6, at 8 o'clock.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Louise Hendrickson of 19502 South Catulpa on Tuesday evening, November 20.

A reminder was given that all purchases from the toy fair should be picked up, and the balance of the bill should be paid, on Saturday, Dec. 1, at the home of Mrs. Leonard Guntz of 9431 West Elm Avenue.

There will be no meeting of the Kindergarten Organization during the month of December, but there will be a meeting for January at the home of Mrs. George Peterson of 9451 West Elm Avenue on Tuesday evening, Jan. 15.

The Summit Hill Boy Scouts will hold their monthly paper drive this Saturday, Dec. 1. It is requested that your donation of newspaper or other paper or cardboard should be bundled in some manner and placed at either the front door or at the garage door, not at the curb, BEFORE 9:00 Saturday morning; so that you will not miss the pick up.

The Arbury Hills Baby Sitters Cooperative will have its secretary's book change hands without a meeting in December. This will take place on December 5; at that time Mrs. Leonard Guntz will take over the book for the month of December, from Mrs. Jack Cook who has been the Secretary for the month of November.

Any member who needs a sitter after Dec. 5, can obtain one by contacting Mrs. Guntz at Mokena 5345 at least 24 hours in advance of the date. There is one exception to this rule, there will be no requests accepted for a baby sitter from the club for New Years Eve.

There is still room for more members of the Baby Sitters group. Any resident of Arbury Hills is eligible to join. There is no dues, and the rules are few. Hours are charged on a straight time basis regardless of number of children involved. The hours are paid back on the same basis. There is a limit of 20 hours which is the maximum of hours allowed to be owed by a member at which time the member must start paying back.

The Summit Hill Parent-Teacher group meeting to be held on Thursday evening, Dec. 13 at 8:00, will have an enjoyable program of holiday chorals music presented by the choral group from Lincoln-Way high school under the direction of Tom Olson.

This is the third year in a row in which this program will be given for the Parent-Teacher Group, and it would be appreciated if a good showing could be present for this program. The executive board will act as hostesses for the meeting, and will serve the refreshments.

The Arbury Hills Civic Association will hold its December meeting at the school on next Tuesday, Dec. 4, at 8 o'clock.

These meetings are important, and all members should make an effort to attend. It is impossible to transact any official business for the Association unless there is a quorum (25 members) present.

Richard and Arlene Tomczak of 9403 West Ash Avenue became the delighted parents of their third child, a boy, whom they named Brian Allen.

Young Master Brian made his way into the world on Tuesday, November 13, at the Silver Cross Hospital in Joliet. He weighed seven pounds fourteen ounces at birth.

The two older Tomczak children, Edward who is five and Irene who is four, were full of enthusiasm over their new brother.

St. Mary's church is putting on a Christmas bazaar and smorgasbord dinner at their social hall at Mokena on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

There is a need for donations of home canned goods, home made bakery goods and home made candies for the Country Store; parcel post packages for the parcel post booth; fifty cent items for the Christmas tree booth; and white elephant, taffy apples, and popcorn for the children's bazaar booth.

Wood Panels Pleasing To Homemakers

Fall always brings to light new colors, new styles and new trends. The trend in warmer interiors today is to natural wood panelling. Modern decor demands the warm mellow charm of wood panelling tastefully tinted and blended to complete your interior.

You will find new wood panelling in today's most attractive shades, exotic Sen Ash from the far-flung Pacific Isles, Century 21 panelling that high-lighted model homes at the Seattle Fair, Birch from the frosty Adirondack Mountains, in our New England states.

NEWER SCUFF-PROFF FINISHES

Crayon marks, lipstick, pencil scratches and many other common stains wash easily off the new Plateboard wall panelling now in Heritage Cherry, a warm cozy brown, and Futura Cherry, a toast colored off-beige. Sturdy plate-board panels 48" wide and 96" long are grooved embossed with woodgrains and coated several times with newer dense plastic finishes, resulting in a wall treatment that is longer lasting and truly family-proof.

SIMPLE TO INSTALL
Mr. Handy Homeowner will find it is a snap to install wood panels, true to size...easy to handle...you just need a hammer and saw...a few minutes, and your family room, den or game room is a thing of lasting beauty and a joy to be surrounded with.

Ban On Odd Envelopes By P.O. Is Effective Jan. 1

Postmaster L. E. Brown of New Lenox post office has announced that a mail standardization program by the post office department will begin Jan. 1, 1963.

Patrons, but most specifically, manufacturers of envelopes and mailer firms should start planning now for the changes in mailing procedures which will go into effect on Jan. 1. These changes are the first step towards mail standardization, and will eliminate a major source of delay in mail processing the extremely small and odd kinds of mail which cause trouble in modern cancelling machines and other postal mechanization equipment. Two of the new rulings are mandatory - two are recommended.

The two Mandatory standards are:
A. Pieces less than 3 inches in width (height) or 4 1/4 inches in length will not be mail-able.

B. Pieces having shapes other than rectangular (4 right angles) will be non-mailable.

The two recommended standards are:

A. Pieces having a ratio of height to length of less than 1 to 1.414 (1 to the square root of 2) are not recommended.

B. Pieces which are not sealed or secured on all four edges so that they may be handled by machines are not recommended.

These new standards are being adopted so that progress can be made in the development of economical mail handling machinery.

Mail processed by machines must be consecutively passed thru automatic culling, facing-cancelling, and sorting devices at machine speeds. Each piece is repeatedly stacked, de-stacked, transported by roll and belt conveyors, free-fallen, and gated. Envelopes, double post cards, and self mailers with loose flaps and unsealed edges interleave with other mail and cause frequent jams in the equipment resulting in damaged mail and time-consuming delays.

Little Big Inch could be the reason your car will start quicker
this winter

To start quicker in freezing weather, the gasoline in your car needs the volatile, high energy supplied by butanes. That's why Texas Eastern's Little Big Inch pipeline system may be important to you this winter.

Our Little Big Inch pipeline has been and is now delivering increasing quantities of butanes to refineries in the Midwest. Beginning next month, the Little Big Inch—through a 500-mile expansion of its system—will make butane deliveries to refineries in the Philadelphia area.

As pipelineers of energy, Texas Eastern continues to expand its natural gas and petroleum products systems to serve new areas of the Midwest and East. Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, Houston, Texas.

Mincemeat And Apple Butter!

BY ROBERTS MANN
CONSERVATION EDITOR
Cook To Forest Preserve

In November, 1895, after a ten-mile drive on a cold gray afternoon, big red Ned trotted into the barnyard at our old home place just after grandmother had taken six large loaves of bread from the oven. Half frozen, we clambered out of the buggy and she met us at the kitchen door with hot slices of crust, generously buttered, thickly smeared with spicy, dark brown apple butter. That was 67 years ago but I can still taste it. There were many ways of making apple butter. It seems to have been concocted, independently, by housewives of several countries in the "apple belt" of northern Europe. The simplest of those recipes merely required "good sweet apples and pure sweet cider". The pared and cored apples and the cider were boiled, "stirring constantly until the whole is a rich dark pulp". Some folks believed that the best apple butter was made without cider. The apples, cut in eighths, were boiled in small amount of water until tender, and put thru a sieve. After adding 4 tablespoons of sugar per cup of pulp, it was cooked and stirred until thick. They might put in a small amount of lemon juice and grated rind. German and Pennsylvania Dutch cooks used 2 qts. water and 1-1/2 qts. cider per gallon of sliced apples, 1 1/2 lbs. sugar and one teaspoon, each, of ground cinnamon, cloves and allspice. Sticks of cinnamon were "still better yet".

In early times most farms had an orchard bearing several kinds of apples from which, each year, they made barrels of cider, 20 or more gallons of apple butter, and mincemeat. Apple butter making was an event as important as butchering and maple sugaring. On the day before, bushels of apples were pared, cored and cut into pieces by the women folks -- including neighbors. Some had little paring machines.

Copper kettles were preferred because the sticky stuff was less apt to be tainted by scorching, but grandma had a 30-gallon iron one, brightly polished inside. It was set up in the yard and, before daybreak, we youngsters poured in the water and built a fire under it. After the water boiled, the cider and apples were added and all day we took turns at stirring it continuously with a long-handled, perforated, wooden paddle. When it was dark brown thick and smooth, that spicy butter was ladled into large stone crocks and jars to be stored in the cellar.

For dinner on Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, one of my grandmothers cooked a goose and the other roasted a turkey, but they both served pumpkin pie and hot mince pie. Grocery stores sold Nonesuch mincemeat then -- the same brand on sale in markets today -- but they made their own.

Recipes for mincemeat varied as much as those for apple butter. Some housewives used more ingredients than others and took more pains in making it. The ingredients depended upon the tastes, traditions and prejudices of their families. Straight-laced cooks used fresh sweet cider or none at all. Others, more tolerant, used hard cider and maybe something stronger. Nowadays here in Chicago, pie manufacturers add cheap brandy and rum to their mincemeats.

The basic constituents are meat, suet, and apples. Most recipes specify lean beef. My folks used pork. The "plain people" in Pennsylvania, pious Mennonites, used the most generous recipe of all. In addition to four boiled calf tongues 2-1/2 lbs. suet, 6 lbs. chopped apples and 4 lbs. sugar, it called for 1/2 lb. citron, 2 lbs. raisins, 2 lbs. currants, 1/2 lb. each of candied orange and lemon peels, 2 grated nutmegs, cloves, cinnamon, allspice, chopped almonds, salt, the juice and rinds of 4 oranges and 4 lemons, one quart of brandy and two quarts of whiskey. This potent mixture was stored in a cool place at least four weeks before being used in pies. Then they celebrated Thanksgiving.

Microfilm Can Be Saving For Cook Co. Taxpayers

(CNS) A savings of $294,300 over a thirty year period could be obtained by the adoption of modern microfilm techniques in the storage of circuit court records in Cook County. The savings and the method whereby they could be obtained were the subjects of a communication from Edmund J. Brennan, director of the county department of central services, to the finance committee of the county board. The report was filed by the committee.

Brennan's report showed that vault storage for Circuit Court records over a 30 year period amounted to 2,975 cubic feet of storage space at an average cost of $10,000 a year, or a total of $300,000.

Storing the same records on microfilm would cost $190 a year period. The total storage space required for these microfilm records -- a scant 23.2 cubic feet.

Microfilming, however, has one drawback. A reader-printer machine is needed in connection with the files. The cost of such a machine is, according to Brennan, about $650 to $850; an expense that could easily be met out of money saved to the taxpayers.

PMA Voices Proposal For Aiding Milk Producers

Pure Milk Association proposals for completely rewriting Chicago Federal Milk Market Order 30 to improve dairy farmer income were outlined at Madison, Wis., by A. L. McWilliams, PMA general manager, to representatives of other cooperatives whose members ship milk to the Chicago market.

The meeting at which these proposals were discussed followed a session of the board of directors of Federated Dairy Cooperatives at the Lorraine hotel, and demonstrated unity of purpose among these producer groups.

The major PMA proposals presented by McWilliams would revise Order 30 as follows: 1. Place fluid cream (whipping cream, coffee cream, half and half, and sour cream) in Class 1 instead of Class 11, thus increasing the price paid producers for fluid cream going into those products. Class 11 milk, used in the manufacture of ice cream and cottage cheese, would be priced to reflect producer prices paid in other areas for milk used in the manufacture of those products.

2. Eliminate the base-excess plan from the order. (PMA and other dairy farmer cooperatives across the nation are striving to establish a "Dairyman's Class 1 Base Plan" for individual Federal order markets as the best solution to the problem of surplus milk production.)

3. Change the way the location differential works so that all milk would be sold and billed f.o.b. plant at the marketing area price.

Incomes In Chicago Area 10 Per Cent Over Expenses

(CNS) Families in the Chicago area enjoyed incomes during 1960 that were ten per cent higher than living expenses, according to an advance report on consumer expenditures released this week by Adolph O. Berger, Chicago Regional director of the U.S. Department of labor, bureau of labor statistics.

"People are earning more, spending more, and saving more than they did ten years ago," Berger told a press conference Friday, Nov. 16. "They are also spending their money on different things," he said. "For instance, all lower percentage of income is being spent for food, and a higher percentage is being spent for shelter and transportation."

During the ten year period between 1950 and 1960 expenditures for food and beverages dropped from 31.3 per cent to 26.2 per cent, and clothing went from 12.4 per cent to 10.3 per cent, according to a survey conducted by the bureau of labor statistics to obtain data for use in revising the consumer price index.

Housing costs, on the other hand, took 19.9 per cent in 1960 compared with 15.2 per cent in 1950. These figures include fuel and utilities. The proportion of families owning cars increased from 54 to 70 per cent over the decade, and more than a third of the families with incomes of $7,500, or more in 1960 reported owning two or more cars. Other factors reflected in this upward shift include higher utilization of automobiles by suburban families, sharp increases in prices of such services as repairs and insurance, and extensive use of the family car for vacations and other recreation.

Medical and personal care each took a larger share of family spending in 1960 than in 1950. Nearly three out of four families paid premiums for hospitalization, surgical, and other forms of health insurance or health service plans.

The increase over the 10 years brought average expenditures for current living costs to $6,156 in 1960. In addition, Chicago area consumers gave gifts and contributions of $266 and put $347 into life insurance and retirement funds.

Savings were increased by $486 mostly by acquiring greater equity in homes and larger investments in business. After paying income and other personal taxes of $817, their money income averaged $6,857.

The advance report provides information on expenditures and income classified by amount of income, family size, age of head, occupation of head, and whether renters or home owners.

The consumer study was made by field interviewers specially trained for this particular survey, said Berger. Interviews were on a voluntary basis, and most required a full day to complete. About 500 families were included in the study, and represented urban, wage-earning, "white and blue collar" families. For purposes of the study, the Chicago area is considered to consist of Cook, Lake, Kane, Du Page and Will Counties in Illinois, and Porter and Lake counties in Indiana. Now Is Time To Brush Up Winter Driving Skills

This is the perfect time for motorists to brush up on their winter driving habits, according to J. J. Cavanagh, president of Chicago Motor Club.

He pointed out that drivers can do little to ease poor weather conditions, but that they can be prepared to do something about improving their winter driving skill.

"A winter changeover doesn't mean just adding anti-freeze to your car radiator," Cavanagh said. "The changeover also should take place in the attitude of the driver himself."

Tests have proven that the greatest skidding dangers exist when it is just cold enough for water to freeze. The braking distance on glazed pavement is as long with the temperature at 30 degrees than it is with a zero reading.

Cavanagh said it is easy for drivers to forget how slippery roads can get, and he noted that most skidding accidents occur in the pre-winter and early winter months because motorists are mentally unprepared for the need for greater driving caution.

He offered the following winter driving safety suggestions: --Wet or slushy roads and streets, usually accompanied by early darkness, require cautious driving at reduced speeds. --Falling sleet or snow and splashes of wet snow from passing cars make it essential that windshield wipers and defrosters be in perfect working condition.

--During stormy weather, when visibility is at a premium headlights-- not parking lights--should be turned on as a warning to motorists and pedestrians.

--For emergency situations, a bucket of sand, salt or cinders, and a shovel always should be carried in the car trunk.

--Allow yourself more time to and from your destination.

Dec. 14 Is Deadline for Wheat Diversion Program

December 14 is the last day for signing up under the 1963 wheat stabilization program. Carl M. Bormet, chairman Cook county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, has announced.

"This means there is little time which growers may file applications to take part in the 1963 winter wheat stabilization program" the chairman said. "Farmers who participate in the 1963 program will be eligible to receive special payments for voluntarily diverting a part of their allotment or base acreage from the production of wheat and devoting that acreage to a conservation use. They will also qualify for extra price-support payments and for the regular price-support loan or purchase agreements."

Under this voluntary wheat reduction program, farmers may divert from 20 to 50 percent of their wheat allotment or base acreage, it was said.

Growers are cautioned, however, to sign up for only the amount of acreage they intend to divert. Failure to divert the full amount of acreage signed up would result in loss of diversion and price-support payments, as well as loss of eligibility for the regular wheat price-support loan or purchase agreement, Bormet warned.

READ EPHESIANS 2:1-10
He is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us. (Ephesians 2: 14).

One of the most stubborn divisions of the ancient world was that between Jew and Gentile. This was made plain in the Temple by inscriptions on the middle wall of partition, which separated the inner from the outer court.

One inscription read: "No man of another race is to proceed within the partition and enclosing wall about the sanctuary; and anyone arrested there will have himself to blame for the penalty of death which will be imposed as a consequence."

The middle wall disappeared in the rubble when Titus destroyed the Temple in A.D. 70. But before that the division for which it stood was being broken down by the Christian church through the saving love of Christ.

Our world still knows many divisions, some of them bitter. But Christ is not divided. We cannot remove the walls of partition separating us from our fellows and menacing our peace. But Christ can. He is our peace. The nearer we draw to Him, the nearer we are to one another. As we love all men with love like His, divisions are overcome.

PRAYER: Save us this day, O Lord, from those things that separate us from Thee and so from one another. Baptize us with the Holy Spirit that we may be Thy disciples indeed. For Jesus' sake, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Christ loves all men. So may you and I.

REMEMBER: Only 25 Days
Til Christmas

STUFFED HORSES, ANYONE -- Mrs. Frank Townsend, Rt. 1, Lockport, is not only a good dressmaker, she also makes stuffed horses for Christmas gift giving. She made several of these horses for the Homer Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary to sell at their recent bazaar. These toys are attractive and would delight the heart of any little youngster. Theresa used a Simplicity toy pattern for her horses and she says the instructions are easy to follow. She used gingham in most of her animals but any suitable print would do as well. These horses are stuffed with foam rubber. The mane and tail are made from yarn wrapped around cardboard. Stitch the yarn through the middle for the mane. Complete instructions are included in the pattern.

Peace and Christmas

A high school teacher was quizzing her class on their opinions concerning war and disarmament. Needless to say, the class was on the side of peace. When asked of his reasons against war, one sleepy eyed, rather bored junior, remarked, "I'm against war, cuz it makes history so long". Certainly, this rather facetious remark contained much truth, because it is a fact. In over 5,000 years of recorded history, there have been only 300 years when a 'hot' war was not upsetting the world's harmony. Certainly, the Russians want peace, we Americans want peace, the world cries for peace in the United Nations. . . . but, there is no peace! Why? What is peace? Why can't the world achieve peace? What is the relationship of Peace and Christmas?

Perhaps, Dave Garroway, in his return interview on TV gave us the key to approaching the problem of peace in our times. His former sign-off 'Peace' became a household commodity. When asked why his former 'Peace' was exchanged for the word, 'Courage', he remarked: "The word Peace has become so much used and misused that it has lost its impact and meaning". Is it any wonder that there is confusion in the minds of men when the United States imposed a blockade of Cuba in the name of Peace? Russia counters and Premier Krushchev becomes the new apostle of peace, hailed as the 'statesman of peace'? How, then, can there be peace in the world if men cannot agree on the meaning of the word? Only with the goal defined can men work constructively toward that goal.

What is peace? Certainly, it is not just the absence of war because we are engaged in a new kind of conflict with Communism, and while there is not a 'hot' war at present, we still feel the tension and fear of the so called 'cold' war. The opposite of peace is war! War equals conflict. Opposed to conflict is harmony and where there is true harmony there is peace. Peace, therefore, becomes the tranquillity of Order.

The mother of a disheveled house, after the Thanksgiving company leaves, knows no peace until all is put back in order. The late sleeper starts his day in confusion because everything is thrown out of its time schedule. The very idea of being late, meeting a deadline, keeping an important appointment, is enough to give some people ulcers, high blood pressure, or, in general, 'nerves'. Perhaps these very evils, which we all know so well, lead us to the answer of the question, "Why can't the world achieve peace?"

Certainly, the world will never know peace if leaders of governments, diplomats, and mankind look for peace merely as an external arrangement. Peace is personal. Wars generate in persons and when persons are not in order within themselves, they wreak havoc without. As Shakespeare has said, 'the tranquillity of a good conscience is the most joyous kind of peace'. War results when the millions of conflicts in individual souls reaches a national climax of confusion . . . a spark or incident pulls the trigger and nations become purged in blood.

What, then, of Peace and Christmas? Amid the dark and silent tranquillity of a Mediterranean night a child was born almost 2000 years ago. Born into humble surroundings, to then obscure parents, God's ambassador of 'Peace to men and good will' came to restore harmony between heaven and earth. To the simple shepherds who found him, He gave great Joy! To the wise men who paid Him homage, He gave new vision. Only the simple persons, who knew that they knew, not, accepted His gift of peace because they were of good will toward their brothers.

The wise men knew, but realized how little they knew, humbly accepted His divine credentials and gained a vision that first changed persons and then the world.

The Herods, then and now, never found His peace, which surpassed all human understanding because their own pride, lust and hate stood in the way of the order and the good which God wills for man. To them, Peace would remain only a meaningless word, a confused symbol in their purposeless lives without God.

Without God, the world has little purpose of meaning, as, without God, the word 'Peace' has little purpose or meaning. Therefore, without the Prince of Peace, mankind can never discover its true meaning.

Peace!

HOLIDAY GIFTS -- Personal touch is added to many Christmas gifts which Mrs. Edward Knopinski, 609 Singer Ave., Lemont, gives to friends and relatives. Included in this year's handcraft home production are a doll made of netting, crepe paper and construction paper, a bon-bon tree made of wood block, wooden dowel and gold foil, a crepe paper and construction paper covered decanter, a "Santa" cookie container, wreath made of styrofoam, greens and pine cones; construction paper candles, a white tree made of styrofoam and toothpicks; a centerpiece made of gold gilded styrofoam and beads; and a Manzanita branch sprayed with gold gild.

GIFT IDEAS -- Mrs. Elmer Batson, 136 Maple, Frankfort, (standing) and Mrs. Alvin Harnack, 39 W. Nebraska, Frankfort, (seated) have been working on handmade items suitable for Christmas gifts for the past eight years. Featured here are pillow cases, handkerchiefs, aprons, cards, wrapping bows and rag carpets. These items are all handmade. They began working on these items for the Women's Guild of St. Peter's United Church of Christ. All profits made on these projects are donated to the guild. These two women have devoted a great deal of time and energy into making and selling these gift items. They sell these handmade articles all year round.

Mrs. Mudron Shares A Recipe

Mrs. Steve Mudron, 720 Chase St., Joliet, not only shared her wreath-making project with us but she also gave us a favorite recipe appropriate for the holiday season.

Here is her recipe for brown bread. Pour two cups of boiling water over one cup of seedless raisins. Let stand over night.

Cream one cup sugar and one tablespoon butter, add one egg and beat. Add this to the raisin mixture.

Shift three cups all purpose flour and add one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking soda and one teaspoon vanilla.

Add the dry ingredients alternately with the raisin and water mixture. Add one-half cup of nuts if desired and pour into greased and floured tin cans.

Bake at 325 degrees about 30 minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean.

Mrs. Mudron has two daughters, Joyce, 15, and Debbie, five. Her husband, Steve, is a welder employed in the Clearing district. Mary likes to try out special recipes and is kept busy these days preparing for the coming holidays.

Grandmother's Oatmeal Cake A Table Favorite

Mrs. Frank Townsend, Rt. 1, Lockport, has passed a family favorite recipe along to us. This recipe for oatmeal cake has been handed down from Frank's grandmother.

For this delicious oatmeal cake, take one cup of quick rolled oats and one cup boiling water. Pour the water over the oats and let stand to cool.

Then mix two cups brown sugar, one-half cup shortening, two eggs, one and one-fourth cups flour, one teaspoon baking soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one cup raisins, one cup nutmeats and one-half teaspoon salt. Add this to the oatmeal and water mixture.

Bake in a 350 degree oven until a toothpick comes out clean. Theresa says the recipe doesn't have a time listed for baking. She bakes her oatmeal cake in a ring mold and says it doesn't really need any icing.

Theresa has four children, Tom, 22, Ted, 18, Sissy, 11 and Patty, seven. Her husband, Frank, is an insurance representative.

The holidays find Theresa making Christmas gifts and baking goodies. She is also very active in community affairs.

Frosty Toothpick Tree Adds Glamor To Mantel

Easy as mince pie to make, a frosty toothpick Christmas tree gives every member of the family a chance to use his or her imagination and contribute something to the happy holiday scene at your house.

Follow these simple instructions and watch your frosty tree grow. Supplies you will need include:

1. Round toothpicks -- approximately eight boxes.
2. One can of snow spray.

3. Sixteen one-inch styrofoam balls.

4. Miniature tree ornaments in many colors.

And while you're getting materials together, don't forget to round up the kids -- let them take part in the fun of making the tree and the satisfaction of seeing it finished. They can begin by sticking toothpicks -- as many as will fit -- into each styrofoam ball.

They form the base of the tree by arranging seven "pin-cushion" balls in a circle. Pop a circle of five tooth-pick balls on the base, then a circle of three, and finally one.

White snow spray gives the tree a frosty, wintry felling. Unusual color effects are possible with different shades of spray -- red, green, blue.

Glittering colored ornaments placed among the "boughs" add the final touch to the family masterpiece.

Your frosty toothpick Christmas tree is certain to highlight the holidays at home!

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FROM THE KITCHEN -- Mrs. Walter Welsch of Wolf Rd., Mokena, displays a few of the kitchen products keyed to the holiday season which highlights of a demonstration given last week for the Home Extension Service. Mrs. Lawrence Kohl assisted Mrs. Welsch with the cookie, candy and cake presentation. Mrs. Welsch is a member of the Mokena Womens Club and is currently president of the group. She is the mother of two children and great grandmother of six.

CHRISTMAS HOUSE -- Mrs. Karl Ekberg, 14332 Beacon St., Orland Park, designed this "Christmas House" three years ago. She made it of styrofoam and branches with a Santa Claus figure in the doorway. She has the house on display in her home at Christmas time and has had it on display in the Orland Public School for the children to admire. She decorates her home in great detail at Christmas with several other ornaments she has made. At Christmas time, the grade school children sing carols on the way over to Mrs. Ekberg's home and she serves them refreshments. An Orland Park citizen for the past 24 years, Mrs. Ekberg has been active in the Methodist Woman's Club and in 1961 she was selected "Citizen of the Year" by the Orland Park Chamber of Commerce.

MR. SNOWMAN

Bake a 13 x 9 x 2 inch cake using your favorite cake mix or recipe. Cool cake. Cut out corners at top of cake, measuring down about 3 1/2 inches from the top and 2 1/2 inches from the sides. These pieces make the arms. The remaining center portion makes the head. Cover the entire cake with fluffy white seven-minute frosting. Swirl frosting on the head to make it look more round. Now pat snowy-white flake coconut over Mr. Snowman. Black gumdrops make good "chunks of coal" for his eyes, nose, and buttons -- and a red gumdrop his gay smile.

Every country has its own breads for everyday and special occasions. In metropolitan areas such as Chicago, there are numerous little bakeries located near the foreign settlements that sell delicious breads and pastries from different countries. HOLIDAY WREATH -- Mrs. Steve Mudron, 720 Chase, Joliet, is putting the finishing touches on her Christmas wreath. She made her wreath from two yards of 72 inch net. The wreath is attached to a coat hanger made into a round ring. Directions for making this Christmas wreath are: Cut the net into 20 strips of six inches by 36 inches. Fold the strips into one-half lengths. Use strong thread doubled and take running stitches along the folded edge. Leave two inches of thread for tying. Attach ruffle balls with fine wire around the ring about one inch apart. Fill in spaces with ornaments and leaves and add a satin bow for a decorative touch.

Yeast Breads

Make Basic Sweet Dough. Stir in raisins, cherries, orange rind and mace before mixing in the last cup of flour. Then finish mixing dough and knead. Shape into ball. Place in lightly greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 2 1/4 hours). Punch down. Divide into 9 pieces. Shape each piece into a ball. Cover and let rest 5 minutes. Roll each piece under the hands to form strands about 15 inches long. Weave 4 strands into a loose braid. Lay the strands on a lightly greased baking sheet, overlapping them at the center. Braid from the center toward each end. With the sides of the hands make a "trench" down the center of this braid. Now braid the next 3 strands loosely, again braiding from the center toward each end. Lay this braid on top of the first one, placing it in the "trench." Last of all, twist the 2 remaining strands loosely around each other. Lay this twist on top of the loaf bringing the ends of the twist down over the ends of the loaf. Tuck the ends of the twist under the loaf. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Remove from baking sheet to rack. When cool, make frosting by mixing confectioners' sugar with milk or cream. Spread on loaf. Sprinkle le with chopped almonds or walnuts.

DANISH COFFEE TWIST (1 coffee cake)

1 recipe Basic Sweet Dough or a package hot roll mix
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon soft margarine or butter
Honey Glaze
1/4 cup slivered blanched almonds
Make Basic Sweet Dough. When dough is doubled, punch down. Shape into ball. Cover and let rest 5 minutes. While dough rests, mix sugar and cinnamon. Flatten ball of dough, then roll out to form long narrow sheet about 6 inches wide and 1/4 inch thick. Spread with soft margarine or butter. Sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture. Roll up to make long, slender roll. Seal edge by pressing firmly. Twist roll by pushing ends in opposite directions. Lift to lightly greased baking sheet and shape into a large pretzel. Tuck ends of roll under edge of "pretzel" to keep dough from untwisting. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 hour). Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 25 to 30 minutes. While coffee twist bakes, make Honey Glaze. Brush hot glaze over twist as soon as it comes from oven. Sprinkle with slivered almonds. Remove from baking sheet to cooling rack.

TO MAKE HONEY GLAZE:

Boil together for 5 minutes 1/4

cup honey, 2 tablespoons sugar,

1 tablespoon of butter or margarine.

BASIC SWEET DOUGH

1 package dry yeast or
1 cake compressed yeast
1/4 cup warm water
1/2 cup milk*
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2 1/2 - 3 cups sifted flour
1 egg

Dissolve yeast in the 1/4 cup of water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt, fat to milk and cool. Stir in 1 cup of the flour, then add the dissolved yeast. Beat in the egg. Stir in rest of flour. Turn dough out on board and knead until soft and satiny. Place dough in lightly greased bowl. Cover let rise until doubled (about 2 hours). Punch down and let rest 5 to 10 minutes.

*1/2 cup dried milk may be added with the first cup of flour. Use 1/2 cup water as the liquid. Or use 1/4 cup evaporated milk and 1/4 cup of water. Only the fresh milk needs to be scalded.

The three ladies featured, in addition to being expert bread makers, also excel in Christmas cookie baking. Mrs. Vonesh bakes breads and cookies now and freezes them for use as they are needed.

All three ladies are interested in art craft thru their Home-maker's unit and Mrs. Seidel made the candle decorations seen in the picture background.
